Description

Black and white woodblock print. A man, woman, and young girl push a wheelbarrow full of coal. The woman and girl stand on either side of the wheelbarrow, with the girl closest to the viewer and her back facing the viewer. The man wears a hat and holds both handles of the wheelbarrow, pushing forward. There are barracks in the background, one with a stream of smoke coming out. Signed H. Sugimoto. 37 copies. Printed on different types of paper with sizes varying slightly. One of the prints is matted.
