Dear Mrs. Whitney,

Hardly anything has happened since I last wrote you, so I'm afraid there's not much to write about. ~ However, I did want to say "Hello" and to ask how you are. We are all fine and hope you and Mr. Whitney are, too. How is Precious Primmy?

I've been doing some knitting lately and have found a short-cut in making sleeves. Around these parts everyone knits the two sleeves at the same time on the same needles. They do the two fronts the same way - using two bolls. You probably know the way it's done already, but it was something new to me and pretty speedy I've learned. ~ Next I am going to learn to make socks. I remember how we used to be forever
